Amanda Fall Biography:

Amanda Fall is in her 15th year of teaching, having taught the past 11 years at Camdenton. At Camdenton, her primary teaching responsibilities include assisting with the high school 'Pride of the Lake' Marching Band, Symphonic Band, and Concert Bands as well as leading the Camdenton Middle School Band Program including the eighth-grade band, beginning trumpets, and beginning clarinets. While under the direction of Mrs. Fall, Camdenton eighth grade bands have consistently received straight I ratings at contest. She also has an active private lesson studio preparing woodwind students for solo and small ensemble festival at the district and state level.

Mrs. Fall received her Bachelor of Science in Instrumental Music Education degree from Northwest Missouri State University where she had the privilege of learning from fantastic musicians and teachers. Amanda's professional affiliations include Missouri Band Masters Association, Missouri Music Educators Association, National Association for Music Educators, Phi Beta Mu, and Kappa Kappa Psi. Amanda has also served as the South Central District Junior High Vice President as well as a Missouri All-State Band adjudicator.

Amanda enjoys singing with the praise and worship team and serving as a deacon alongside her husband of 15 years (Jason) at The Potters House Church of Camdenton. In her spare time, she loves to watch her daughter Gwyn (10) participate in her many activities including piano lessons, theater, and Tae Kwon Do.
