Dominic Zanaboni's Biography:

Dominic Zanaboni graduated from the University of Missouri Kansas City Conservatory of Music and Dance in 2015 with a Bachelors in Music Education. While at UMKC, Zanaboni was a member of several ensembles on campus including the 1 o'clock Jazz Band, Wind Ensemble, and was a member in a student brass quintet for two years. Since graduating, Zanaboni has been the Director of Bands for the Spokane School District in southwest Missouri for the past four years. During his time at Spokane he more than doubled the size of the instrumental music program and developed a successful Wind Ensemble and Marching Band, both have been consistently recognized for their excellence and high level of performance. He overlooked all aspects of the 6th-12th program including the Beginner Band, Intermediate Band, Wind Ensemble, Jazz Band, and Pep Band. He has recently been selected as the Associate Director of Bands for the Camdenton School District and cannot wait to get started.

Zanaboni has been involved with Drum Corps International since 2008 as both a member and instructor. He was a member of the Colts Drum and Bugle Corps 2008 to 2010 and Phantom Regiment Drum and Bugle Corps 2012 and 2013. He was a member of the Phantom Regiment instructional staff 2014, 2015, 2017, and 2018 as a visual instructor and a member of Pacific Crest Drum and Bugle Corps instructional staff as a brass instructor in 2016. Zanaboni regularly provides his expertise in the marching arts and serves as a clinician for several groups throughout Missouri as well as a drill designer for several other Missouri band programs. He is an avid runner and periodically adjudicates marching band and concert festivals from time to time.
